SENIORS

Most of the time it was the study hall . . . but for a time each morning it was considered by many to be the most important room in the school . . . THE SENIOR HOME ROOM, where those who had almost made the grade gathered to be counted in, and to talk. There was much to remember . . . six years, for some, of fun and joy and craziness and a little sadness too . . . Now everything was for the excitement of the last gay days and of the future . . . They talked of college credits, of the prom, of the class trip, of senior control day, of grades and graduation and weddings and jobs and college . . . And they talked of leaving . . . For years they had looked forward to that Day of Days . . . But now that it was almost upon them each knew quietly and in his heart that he was leaving something precious, something he would never forget, something each had to leave because they were all growing to the responsibilities of adults . . . And they had something else to cherish. They were the last ones to go . . . When the senior class walked slowly into the future with their caps and gowns and diplomas, there would be no more . . . For these are the last to go forth from our dear old Madison High School, the Class of 1959 . . .

April 10, 1959

Members of the 1959 Senior Class
 Madison High School
 Madison Heights, Michigan

Dear Friends:

Thank you for the opportunity to present greetings to you and to become part of your Commencement activities. For 12 (13 if you went to kindergarten) long years, you have prepared for the day when you would receive your high school diploma. The day is almost here and I am sure that you regret neither the time, the efforts nor the energies that have gone into preparing for that momentous hour when you will be awarded your diploma by the President of the Board of Education.

In one way, yours is a class of distinction. The Madison seniors of 1959 will be the last group to be graduated from the original Madison High School. Future classes will be graduated from the new Madison High School now being erected on the recently acquired 11 Mile Road Site.

Madison's first class (June, 1929) had just 2 graduates; your class has 111 members. In 30 years, including the present graduating seniors, 1,511 young men and women will have been sent out into the world to contribute their skills and talents so that our democratic way of life might endure and progress.

We at Madison are proud of our graduates and their accomplishments during the turbulent times of these last 30 years and during which we have seen depression, prosperity, war and "armed peace". We know that the 1959 class will carry on the Madison tradition.

You may be sure that your teachers and I wish for each of you a very happy, prosperous and successful future.

Sincerely yours,

F. Foster Wilkinson

26524 John R. has been the address of Madison High School for over thirty years. This red brick building has seen many changes over this period. New buildings have joined it "along John R." and new rooms have been added or remodeled within the building. Forty-two senior classes have at one time or another called it "my high school." 1959 is a significant year in its history. 1959 is the last year it will be "The High School." There will be a new Madison High and the memory of high school classes and events in the "old" building will gradually be forgotten. We, of the Madisonian staff, share with the student body, administration, and faculty the excitement and pride of the approaching new Madison . . . and also share the nostalgia of leaving the old. With affection we dedicate the 1959 Madisonian to

UNDERCLASSMEN

Who were the underclassmen this year? Well, they were, for the last time, everyone from seventh grade upwards to include the eleventh grade. What a blow to come from being sixth graders and the top of the heap to find oneself suddenly a seventh grader and at the bottom again. But though the years looked insurmountable as they began, it seems like minutes only have passed to ninth, tenth, eleventh graders as they see themselves rise upward again to that unchallengeable position of being a senior. Still, there is much fun, much sheer experience of unfolding into young adult human beings as one goes up the ladder with the strangely unhelpful designation of underclassmen. Each year, the last year seems babyish; each year one sees ones friends (one hardly notices it in oneself) changing. A fellow who was a boy last year is suddenly a fine looking young man, and the girls who were silly gigglers last year, are now young ladies the young man is almost afraid to approach except by heaving. If you don't think so, get out last year's Madisonian and compare faces! The Underclassmen years are those years that are most frantic, most mad, and even violently sad at times, but they are, too, the ones remembered forever for they made you what you are. And why do we show this particular classroom as the underclassmen scene? Why, just because there isn't any special place for them. They were everywhere. And though the seniors have the sad privilege of closing the doors forever of old Madison High, the underclassmen have the honor and the duty to open the doors of new Madison High School and to set the tone and begin the traditions for all those who follow.

Officially termed the "annex" and known to all as the "four-room building" . . . the classrooms 112, 113, 114, and 115 were familiar to all seventh and eighth grade students. You might find the junior high anywhere from the dissonance cafeteria to the upstairs library, but the building on the left was generally their own special place . . . rarely littered with upper classmen and providing a grand chance to run in the open air from the "big" building to the "little" one.

ACTIVITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS

Who can think of High School without activities and organizations? Almost everyone in Madison High School belonged to some group that did interesting things not included on the regular curriculum and the meeting place for many of them was the Library conference room. For that reason the room is remembered with fondness by most people. Who can forget announcements suddenly calling forth the student council or the senior class officers or the members of some prom committee to come quickly to the conference room for a special meeting? The ring man usually tempted the tenth graders in that room, the library groups met and lunched there, student council decisions were made and ordered from there, the journalism group thought of it as their press room and at times got a little boisterous until dark looks from students on the other side of the glass reminded them of the sacrosanct area they inhabited . . . Whatever shining new wards are found for the clubs, old upperclassmen will remember nostalgically the echoes from the past calling them to the library conference room which was never able to acquire a nickname.

HOMECOMING

The magic coach turned into a white Olds convertible that remains October night. Trophies in hand, Pat and Don Circle the field at halftime. Dick La Page is the chauffeur, and sophomore Roger Wilton a willing passenger.

There was plenty of action for the Homecoming game against Troy. And not to spoil a perfect Homecoming . . . Madison won with a 7-0 score. Above, Tom Pennington, number 88, walks toward a play, and below, Leroy Hill is looked.

Nothing is complete without music . . . and there was our band to supply it! Under the direction of Mr. Wainwright, their sprightly music added to the halftime gaiety. Among those in the foreground are Helen Schmitt, Carol Barr, Dora Clarke and Pat Pelham.

The Royal Couple, Queen Pat and King Don, watch happily from their thrones as their loyal subjects dance below.

Below, royal feet take to the dance floor. At the right, the court joins in while the crowd and cheerleaders look on.

The Class of 1959
IT WITH YOU"

Everyone seeks shelter or cover as a year's supply of fireworks explodes in the somewhat explosive Vanderhof cellar. Grandpa Vanderhof (played by Ben Tyler) however remains calm and rather enjoys the activity.

Director Henderson scribbles cost comments in the darkened gym or directs sound effects to assure a smooth production as the cast continues their mad antics on the stage.

Penny Symons (played by Twana Williams) shows her painting of Mr. DuFonne dressed as the Queen Thryson.

Madcap adventures are the usual thing in the merry Vanderhof home. Grandpa, ruler of the family, believed in enjoying life -- eating the rice, collecting snakes, playing darts, and ignoring letters from the government about non payment of income tax.

Paul Symons plays with his water set as Ed Cornish and Mr. DuFonne discuss a serious matter. Edle Cornish and Grandpa Sam -- one bored and one interested.

The center of the family looks out on a boy's life with youthful interests as his family moves around him.

An ancestor set model of the Queen Mary serves as the center piece for the table as Donald Kalkbrenner and Grandpa discuss income tax, relief, bread lines and Russia.

"Oh, Dear!" exclaims Penny as Mr. Henderson from the Internal Revenue Department comes to call.

Young Tom seems to triumph for the moment as Alice and Tony, as played by Dale Meyers and Donna Comstock, and a pleasant evening after the budget. The powerful interlude is only temporary.

Mr. Kirby, as played by Roger Bestrom, is helped from the floor where he was thrown during a wrestling hold exhibition. Kalkbrenner wonders if he is in pain.

ATHLETICS

If anyone said, Select a room to remember that is most typical of Madison High School, who could avoid choosing the gymnasium, gym to all of us? Here is the background of athletics, here is the fairland of proms, here is the dramatic center of fine plays, here is the hall for the chorus and band, here is the spreading area of junior-senior banquets, of variety shows, of lectures, and of its original purpose, GYM CLASSES. This is the most remembered room, most beloved, most taken for granted. This is the room of the hundreds of heads turning left and right as the swift moving boys carry the ball to their basket, make a play, succeed or fail, battle it out with other swift moving boys as the fiercely loyal little cheer leaders cry their hearts out for the team to WIN WIN WIN. The cheerleaders! If a boy's great athletic ambition is to make the Varsity Team, the girl's highest ambition is to be a cheerleader! It's good to know that this precious relic of our memories won't be a dead, closed room when the Senior High moves out forever, but that its traditions will be just as dedicatedly and vociferously carried on next year and next by others. YEA TEAM! WIN WIN WIN will ring on and on in the old gym, and no doubt old faces will appear again and again to assure themselves it is still there and operating. Goodbye gym, you belonged to athletics, but you were all of ours, too.

FACULTY AND ACADEMIC

Sometimes in our having fun and looking for more fun we perhaps tend to overlook the heart of the matter of schools, the serious academic work, and we tend to forget that the battle for high grades and high standards is, if quieter, just as much of a test of a boy's and girl's character and ability as the more obvious athletics. Then when honors come, we realize what a fine school we have, when ninth graders get TWO out of fifteen prizes offered in the whole Detroit area for general science at the Science Fair, when a senior gets a full scholarship, when other seniors qualify for our finest universities — these and more make us realize what we are really here for, and how well we've succeeded. In this hallway which has resounded to the sounds of leisure time doings, has also been heard serious conversations about books and classes and theorems and theories and reasons why this battle was won, why this book is a good novel, why this man a good president, and the best method for building a homemade rocket. Now when classes change there will be both less of that and less BIG PEOPLE. The junior high will be able to see each other for the first time, and they will know if anyone comes along towering over them it will be a TEACHER. This world will belong to the "little people," but those fine students who are going on as underclassmen beg them to remember the real meaning of school and to carry on, for they have fine experienced members on the faculty to lead them out to knowledge, which is the stressed purpose of education everywhere.

ADVERTISERS

Producing a high school yearbook involves time, cooperation . . . and finances. In addition to sales, and yearbook sponsored activities, the Madisonian depended upon the support of local business places. Our support was not limited only to the familiar stretch of road "along John R" in Madison Heights, but this was a large segment of the area that, through the purchasing of advertising space, helped support the Madison High School yearbook — this year and many years in the past.

LIVING

Today's graduates are entering an exciting new era where they will live better electrically in every way ... at home, at work, or at play.

For example, if you choose marriage, you can enjoy an all-electric home. Included will be electric heat, built-in electric range and refrigerator and a host of time-saving, economical electric appliances. They will be the ultimate in modern living comfort and convenience.

Or, if you go into business, efficient electrically operated machines will assist you in getting the job done swiftly and easily—again an illustration of the versatility and dependability of electricity.

Or, if you go on to college, perhaps you will become one of the scientists or technicians who help further mold the all-electric world of the future.

No matter which path you may choose, electricity will be there to lighten your load, brighten your way ... help you live better ... electrically.

"There's a girl I'd like to meet"

"I've been watching all evening how pleasant and charming she is to everyone. I'm told her name is Betty, and she works for the telephone company."

Yes, Betty, through her day-to-day training on her telephone job, has gained poise and confidence—real assets to an attractive, winning personality.

When she started her job, Betty had no experience in telephone work. But she was trained with other beginners by Michigan Bell's friendly, understanding supervisors. Today Betty's proud of her work; enjoys a fine salary, regular wage increases, and many new friends.

What more could any girl ask in a job? Get in touch with us—perhaps you'll find there's one of those interesting telephone jobs for you.

ENGLISH

EARL HUNIAK
Chairman of the English department, Mr. Huniak has been at Madison four years. He is speaker play director and sponsor of the Drama Club and National Thespians Troupe 1317. He attended Western Illinois University and received a B.S. and M.S. degree.

EDITH BRODA
A former student of Madison, this is Mrs. Broda's second year at Madison. She was born in Detroit and has a B.A. degree from Wayne State University. Mrs. Broda teaches College English and first and third year English.

BESSIE NICHOLAS
Born in New Castle, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Nicholas received a B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State University. This is her first year at Madison. She teaches eighth and tenth grade English.

ELAINE WHITE
Mrs. White is the sponsor of the Yule of Christian Youth organization at Madison. This is her second year on the faculty. She received a B.A. degree from Eastern Michigan College.

ED COMBRO
Coach of the freshmen football and basketball teams and assistant coach of the Varsity track team, Mr. Combro has been at Madison two years. A graduate with a B.S. degree from Miami-Oberlin College, he teaches English and physical education.

PATRICIA SMITH
This is Miss Smith's sixth year as a member of the Madison High English department. She received a Ph.D. degree from Marquette University. Miss Smith is the advisor of the school newspaper, the Aquila.

Getting out a school newspaper is a busy job. The independent Aquila staff pauses a moment to check off ideas for the next issue. The Aquila is a project of the journalism class with Miss Smith as the advisor and Jim Mathias, student editor.

Richard Bellas
Born in Ohio, this is the first year at Madison for Mr. Bellas. He attended the University of Toledo, where he received his B.S. degree. Sponsor of the Junior High Student Council, he teaches seventh grade English and social studies.

On their way to the library for a junior high story hour are Mr. Bellas and an English section of smiling seventh graders.

DOROTHY CARTER
A graduate of Rhode Island College of Education, where she received a B.Ed. degree, Mrs. Carter teaches junior high English. This is her first year at Michigan and at Madison High School.

SCIENCE LECTURE ROOM

SCIENCE

The camera caught Mr. Hovanec through the door of the science lecture room as he lectured the third hour chemistry class.

W. G. DOLAK
A graduate of Illinois State Normal in Illinois, Mr. Dolak has a B.S. degree. He has also attended Joliet Junior College and has done graduate work at Wayne State University. This is his third year at Madison.

JOSEPH HOVANEC
Chairman of the science department, Mr. Hovanec has been at Madison five years. He coaches theVarsity basketball and Tennis football teams. He has a B.S. degree from St. Francis College and a M.S.E. from the University of Pittsburgh.

CYRENA BUCKMAN
Born in Terra Haute, Indiana, Mrs. Buckman has been at Madison thirteen years. She has a B.S. degree from Indiana State Teachers College. Mrs. Buckman is director of audio visual aids at Madison and sponsors the Future Teacher and project clubs.

Even white rats can have a vitamin deficiency! Studies in this subject were made by Mr. Dolak's science class. Here, Pat Ralney and Gerry Oshie make a note on their "pet." In the background, Jerry Kane does some minor plant surgery.

DONALD NELSON
This is Mr. Nelson's second year at Madison. He graduated from Nebraska State Teachers College where he received a B.S. degree. Mr. Nelson teaches junior high general science.

LOUISE WILSON
Three years at Madison, Miss Wilson is sponsor of the junior high V.C.V. club and the junior high cheerleaders. She is also a member of the Executive Committee. A graduate of Greenville College in Illinois, she has a B.S. degree.

At the right freshmen Linda Patterson and Audrey Baskin work on their project of paper-making while Gene Proctor watches. In the background Mr. Dolak helps Pat Patterson and Rosemary Ocker with a problem. Below, Bob Kane and Sharon Quimer work on a project of bacteriological isolation.

Room 113 means science to most Madison seventh graders. Harry McCowan stands to read in Miss Wilson's fourth hour science class. Fred Hove and Gary York turn their heads to watch and listen.

KATHERINE LORKUSA
 Chairman of the homemaking department, Mrs. Lorkusa has taught at Madison thirteen years. She received her Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Michigan College and has also done extension work at the University of Chicago and Wayne State.

JUANA THOMPSON
 A member of the Madison faculty for four years, Miss Thompson was born in Kentucky. She received a B.S. degree from Eastern Kentucky State College and has also attended the University of Louisville.

"A stitch in time" is apt to result in a fabulous new addition to the wardrobe. Juniors Carol Telle, Vicki Sedzinski, and Judy Whitson begin to work on what they hope will be garment magic.

JANET BLEAVINS
 Sponsor of the Future Homemakers club, Mrs. Bleavins has been at Madison two years. Formerly a Madison High student she attended Michigan State University where she received a B.S. degree.

HOME ECONOMICS

Seventh grade students Jane Pappas, Joanne Kuebel, and Shirley Lockhart find that looking in the Home Ec classroom can be fun as well as — they hope — profitable.

Needle and thread and a sewing machine keep eighth graders Ann Mickel and Kathy Todd busy. Junior High students divide their time between reading and sewing.

Meal preparation can be absorbing work as depicted here by the housewives of juniors Sally Christensen and Sandra Jordan. These girls are prepared to turn out a full course dinner.

SOCIAL STUDIES

ANABELLE SYNGUE
Chairman of the social studies department, Mrs. Syngue has been at Madison twelve years. She received her A.S. degree from Eastern Michigan College, and her M.A. degree from Wayne State University.

RICHARD MORTON
Born in Grand Rapids, Michigan, Mr. Morton has been at Madison six years. He received a B.S. degree from Michigan State University. In addition to teaching civics and history, he is manager of the book store.

Mr. Morton's freshmen Civics class begins a writing assignment. Carl Burke looks thoughtful, while a student in front of him ducks his head. Mr. Morton passes to check a student's paper.

LORA OYLE
Mrs. Oyle has taught at Madison seventeen years. She attended the University of Kansas where she received an A.S. and M.A. degree. Mrs. Oyle teaches American History and World History.

TOM REDMON
Born in Paris, Tennessee, Mr. Redmon has been at Madison three years. He received a B.A. degree from Murray State in Kentucky and a M.A. from George Peabody College in Tennessee. He sponsors the M-Y Club.

A group of SAS students crowd around the desk as Mr. Redmon talks about American History. Mike Doty finds the desk a handy place to rest his elbow.

E. L. NICOLAFF
A native of Michigan, Mr. Nicolaff was born in Detroit and received his B.S. degree from Wayne State University. This is his second year at Madison where he teaches civics.

JOHN HOOD
A native of Michigan, this is Mr. Hood's first year as a member of the Madison faculty. He attended Wayne State University where he received his Bachelor of Science degree. He teaches remedial core and also eighth grade history.

DONALD GORNOWICH
Mr. Gornowich has taught at Madison three years. He has a Ph.D. degree from the University of North Dakota and a M.Ed. degree from Wayne State University. He teaches junior high social studies and senior high economic geography.
